PEER Scholarships for Syrian students 2019

WHAT
The US Institute of International Education IIE’s Platform for Education in Emergencies PEER provides two scholarships for Syrian students for Master level studies at Finnish higher education institutions.

The scholarship is 25 000 USD / student in total for the completion of Master level studies (two years).

TO WHOM
The scholarships are available for Syrian students selected to study in Master’s programmes at Finnish higher education institutions. Students can reside either outside or in Finland at the time of the admission.

The scholarships can be granted for studies at any Finnish higher education institution. All Master’s programmes in Finnish, Swedish and English are eligible. The higher education institution must admit a fee waiver for the selected student (in case fees would otherwise be charged).

The selection is based on the previous academic record and the quality of the application. In addition, the students residing in Syria or in the neighboring countries can be prioritized in the selection.

WHEN
The scholarships are granted for Syrian students selected in the 2019 admission.

The scholarship holders must complete their Master’s degree by the end of August 2021. The reporting linked to the scholarship must be finalized by end of October 2021.

HOW
The scholarship selection will be made at the Finnish National Agency for Education EDUFI.

The higher education institutions will forward the information of eligible students to EDUFI and the selection will be announced in connection to the admission decision.
